

ZANARCHIST PRODUCTIONS PRESENTS:

NOBODY FOR PRESIDENT

Wavy Gravy was a beat poet who went under the name Hugh Romney in the late 50's and early 60's—a regular at the famous Gaslight Cafe along with Bob Dylan, Peter Paul and Mary, Phil Ochs and the rest of the folkies. In the late 60's he helped form the Hog Farm, a group of freakos who splattered from city to city with the message of the cultural revolution painted on their old school buses. After a stint with the Merry Pranksters, a run-in with the New York City Police at the Bangla Desh concert which caused Wavy permanent back-damage, he ended up feeding the cockroaches in the Yippie house in '74. Wavy was in town for the counterconvention and MCed a lot of the YIP actions.
