

Wednesday Morning, October 22, 1980

Journal Photo by Tony O'Brien

Nobody's The One

A group from Berkeley, Calif., stopped off in DeVargas Park in Santa Fe Tuesday for a picnic and rally to give a boost to its "Nobody for President" cross-country tour. The campaign, obviously poking fun at the 1980 presidential race, attracted more than 100 persons who got a chance to ask questions directed at an empty chair — the "Nobody Candidate" for president. Wavy Gravy, right, of Woodstock Festival fame, was one of the personalities coordinating the event.