

The Largest Daily Circulation in Northern California

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1983

777-11

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

By Eric Lutz

Nobody Was There

As Wavy Gravy played the kazoo, the Nobody for President campaign held its first rally in Union Square yesterday. About 200 people braved the rain and cold to listen to a moment of silence from their candidate. 'Nobody knows all the answers,' 'Nobody's perfect' and 'Nobody is the peace candidate,' said speaker after speaker from the stage. While the crowd tossed around a giant top hat, Paul Krassner and Gravy, veterans of past Nobody campaigns, said their candidate was the overwhelming choice of 82 million voting-age adults in 1980 and that there's no reason he shouldn't do as well next November.